

Some helpful tips:

- ★ The first two worksheets are the Time to Reflect and Venn Diagram of Purpose, everything else is just for fun!
- ★ Time to Reflect is designed for each career you study, but students can also watch multiple careers and choose one to complete the worksheet for.
- ★ Each video is about 3 minutes long so you can definitely watch all 12 with your students if you want!
- ★ If you want even more careers or worksheets, create an account here. This offer is exclusively for teachers during CTAE Month.
- ★ Win up to $100! Tag @get_perspectiv on Facebook, Instagram, or LinkedIn during CTAE Month to enter our raffle. Prizes: $100 gift card for 1 winner, $50 gift cards for 2 winners. Winners announced Feb 18!

If you need anything at all, feel free to contact Meagan at meagagetperspectiv.com.

List a couple careers you think you might be interested in:

You don't have to figure out what you're going to do for the rest of your life, you just have to figure out what you're going to do next.

What are 3 things you can do this week to make progress toward your goal?

DID YOU KNOW?

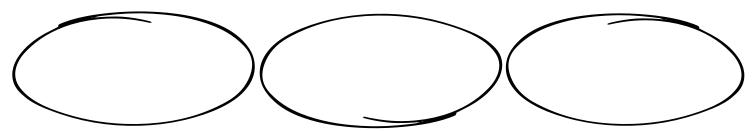

The average person will switch careers 5-7 times in their lifetime!

Who are 3 people you know who might be able to help you get started? Include contact info if possible!

List 3 businesses or organizations you can reach out to in your local community that could help you get started. Include their phone numbers.

I've never found anybody that didn't want to help me if I asked them for help. I've never found anyone who said no or hung up the phone when I called. I just asked. Most people never pick up the phone and call. Most people never ask, and that's what separates, sometimes, the people who do things from the people who just dream about them.

Nervous about making a cold call? Once you embrace fears of rejection, embarrassment, or anything else holding you back there's nothing that can stop you. So get out of your own way! Just do it. And always remember, the ability to ask for help is a superpower, not a sign of weakness. It's time to take on the world!

Money Matters

Consider one of the careers you're interested in. Thinking of the education required for that profession, list 3 schools you might want to attend.

Cool! Now let's look at some numbers.

Write the total cost of tuition to get your degree at each school.

Unfortunately, living costs money. Bummer!

Where will you live? How much will you spend on food and entertainment? Will you take out loans? Write your total living expense costs below (okay to guesstimate).

Have help? Lucky you!

Write the total assistance you think you'll receive that DOESN'T have to be repaid.

This could be money from family, scholarships, or working part-time.

Time to break out the calculator...

Add the total cost of tuition and living expenses. Next, subtract any aid you'll receive.

Write the total amount of debt you can expect to owe for each school.

3 $

Look at the debt you'll incur from each of these schools. Is there a reason to choose the most expensive option? Will it produce a different outcome? Why or why not?

The value of financial freedom can't be overstated. A lot of people struggle with debt. Borrow only what is absolutely necessary!

Money Matters

If your debt looked about the same for all three schools, what's something you could do to reduce your debt across the board? (Work a part-time job, drink fewer Frappucinos...?)

Time for hypotheticals! Would you rather...

go to the same college as all your friends and accrue $60,000 in student loan debt

b

go to a different college that will allow you to obtain the same degree with no debt?

Would you choose A or B and why?

Hint: There's no wrong answer! Enjoying friends is such an important part of life! The purpose of this exercise is just to get you thinking about your future and to help you consider long-term goals when making near-term decisions.

Stressed? Don't be.
This part of life, much like a business, is a series of iterations.
We keep experimenting, learning, and growing until we find what works for us. You're right where you're supposed to be.
We promise.
